Alameda Table Lamp

The Alameda Table Lamp is a hand-thrown ceramic composition topped by a natural linen shade. The artful lines that squiggle along the surface of the Gray table lamp are inventive and fresh, the tone-on-tone glaze bringing a subtle texture to its spot in a room. The plinth base that indents is a refined design statement, as is the fact that the drum shade is beautifully in scale with the overall design. The polished brass hardware glints to bring added richness to the Alameda, which was designed by Clarence Mallari.
