Kenita Table lamp

With a stylized palm leaf motif flowing up from the base when seen from all four angles as it is turned, the Kenita Table Lamp is made of porcelain. The green tropical pattern pops from the white background, particularly when the light filters down beneath the off-white linen shade. This, and the optic crystal base and finial are pale elements that bring lightness to the design, while the polished brass finish on the metal echoes the warmth of the lovely green leaves.
