Dorothy Acanthus Lamp

The original lamp base was hand carved by George Sellers, our resident sculpture and design director. Acanthus shapes and swirls have long been a design trend and staple over the centuries. George was influenced by the original works of Dorothy Draper by, the Greenbrier Club located in the West Virginia mountains. This lamp is cast, elevated on feet, and wired to allow both sides of the acanthus swirl to face forward creating the perfect left and right options when required.
